Admission requirements

Undergraduate degree	Bachelor's degree
Grades	Normally, the grade standard for the B.Ed. Program is a "B". However, the Mount does not simply select the students with the highest undergraduate marks; rather, marks are one indicator of academic success in post-graduate professional study.
Undergraduate Course Work	The Mount offers curriculum methods courses in eight teachable fields: Business Education, English, Family Studies, French, Math, Science, Social Studies and Visual Arts. Teachable fields are made up of specific disciplines. Applicants will need to identify a first and second teachable field and complete a minimum number of undergraduate credit course hours in a single discipline within each field. Applicants may not choose the same teachable field for both requirements. First Teachable Field: minimum of 5.0 units (30 credit hours) in a single discipline. Second Teachable Field: minimum of 3.0 units (18 credit hours) in a single discipline. See Reverse for Complete List of Teachable Fields and Disciplines
Undergraduate Requirement	Applicants completing the final year of an undergraduate degree may apply. If accepted, the undergraduate degree must be completed before beginning the Bachelor of Education Program.
Conditional Acceptance	Applicants who are missing some of the required undergraduate course work may be considered for conditional acceptance providing the course work is completed by a deadline(s) determined by the Faculty of Education.
Experience	Applicants should have experience working/volunteering with adolescents in schools or other public, institutional or group settings.
Required Records Checks	Applicants who are admitted to the program will be required to submit completed criminal records, with the vulnerable sector, and child abuse registry checks by a deadline date that will be provided by the Faculty of Education.
