Brenda Hattie

Brenda Hattie is the Project Coordinator for the Age-Friendly Implementation Project at the NS Centre on Aging. Brenda has worked with seniors in a variety of settings and is interested in participating in research that makes Canada's communities more "agefriendly".

Since 2005, she has coordinated four projects focusing on seniors, including Age-Friendly Cities, Age-Friendly Rural/Remote Communities, The Role of Senior Volunteers in Sustaining Rural Communities, and Adult Day Programs. Most recently, she worked on revisions to the provincially recognized Alzheimer's Disease and Other Dementias Care Course. Brenda has co-authored several reports and given presentations at academic conferences as well as for community organizations. In the fall of 2008 she was an invited lecturer for the Mount Saint Vincent University lecture series hosted by the Keshen-Goodman Public Library in Halifax. In addition to her responsibilities at the Centre, she is part-time faculty at Mount Saint Vincent University teaching in the departments of Philosophy/ Religious Studies, Women's Studies, and Family Studies and Gerontology.
