Bachelor of Arts in Philosophy?

Know What's Expected

Philosophy explores cultural and ideological issues and applies social theory. If you major in Philosophy, employers will expect that you can think about complex issues, formulate and defend philosophical positions and perform a wide variety of analytical functions. French may also be an asset in some positions.

Transferable Skills

- Analysis and interpretation of information and the ability to critically evaluate it
- Written and spoken communication skills
- Ability to maintain objectivity
- Problem-solving skills
- Time management skills
- Keeping aware of current trends

What Employers Want to See

Contributions you make to your community reflect well on you as an individual. Employers are looking for students who are dedicated, hard working, and show a commitment to their interests. By getting involved on-campus (for societies visit mountstudents.ca) or off-campus early in your degree, you will not only show credibility in your area of interest but also a willingness to work towards goals.

You can also build your Mount Co-Curricular Record (CCR) with these activities at msvu.ca/CCRP and present this official document to future employers.

Necessary Skills

- Leadership
- Researching and writing skills
- Knowledge of trends
- Project Management

Where Can You Work?

A Philosophy Major offers a broad background in the arts, history, humanities, sciences, and social sciences. Graduates from Philosophy programs may find careers in government, law, education, and marketing.

A Philosophy degree is also a great stepping stone for further education. Visit the Bachelor of Arts—Philosophy webpage for more information.
