Know What's Expected

Public Policy Studies majors have a general interest in learning about current Canadian global issues. If you major in Public Policy Studies, employers will expect that you have skills in policy analysis and communication. The program prepares students for potential careers in public service in government and non-government organizations. French may also be an asset in some positions.

Transferable Skills

- Strong critical thinking skills
- Written and spoken communication skills
- Gathering and interpreting data
- Utilizing survey research methods
- Presenting and defending a position
- Computer literacy

What Employers Want to See

Contributions you make to your community reflect well on you as an individual. Employers are looking for students who are dedicated, hard working, and show a commitment to their interests. By getting involved on-campus (for societies visit mountstudents.ca) or off-campus early in your degree, you will not only show credibility in your area of interest but also a willingness to work towards goals.

You can also build your Mount Co-Curricular Record (CCR) with these activities at msvu.ca/CCRP and present this official document to future employers.

Necessary Skills

- Strong communications skills
- Strong interpersonal skills
- Ability to multitask and work under pressure
- Strong research skills

Where Can You Work?

A Public Policy Major offers a broad background in the humanities, politics, government and social sciences. Graduates from Public Policy programs may find careers in government, the non-profit sector, consulting firms, and in selected private sector firms.

A Public Policy Studies degree is also a great stepping stone for further education. Visit the Bachelor of Arts— Public Policy Studies webpage for more information.
