

What Can I Do with My Degree In... Bachelor of Education?

Know What's Expected

If you have an education degree, employers will expect that you have an understanding of the human development process, an acknowledgement of various learning styles, and an ability to clearly convey ideas to others. Education graduates are also expected to be organized, dependable, patient, creative, and passionate with great communication skills. They will also expect that you will have various skills and knowledge bases from your previous degree.

Transferable Skills

- Strong interpersonal and communication skills
- Essential critical thinking skills
- Organization and record keeping skills
- Detailed research skills
- Efficiency in oral and written presentation skills
- Ability to work as a member of a team

What Employers Want to See

Contributions you make to your community reflect well on you as an individual. Employers are looking for students who are dedicated, hard working, and show a commitment to their interests. By getting involved on-campus (for societies visit mountstudents.ca) or off-campus early in your degree, you will not only show credibility in your area of interest but also a willingness to work towards goals.

You can also build your Mount Co-Curricular Record (CCR) with these activities at msvu.ca/CCRP and present this official document to future employers.

Necessary Skills

- Ability to interact with diverse groups of people
- Leadership skills
- Proficient interview skills and technique
- Portfolio and Resume building skills

Where Can You Work?

The skills and knowledge you will develop and enhance as a Education student will give you the flexibility and adaptability that can be useful in many different occupations. Having the ability to communicate well with others, build relationships, plan, organize, problem solve, and manage others/events will transfer easily to many positions in areas such as advising, administration, training and management. These options also increase based on your previous bachelor's degree. Visit the Faculty of Education webpage for more information.
