What can I do with my degree in... Bachelor of Arts, Religious Studies?

Knowing What's Expected

If you are interested in religious services, administering the rites of a religious faith or denomination, as well as performing other functions associated with the practice of a religion, you will enjoy the options that a Religious Studies Major affords.

Jobs in this field require the ability to perform a wide variety of duties in churches, synagogues, temples, or other places of worship.

You will be required to supervise, plan, and administer programs of religious education and may participate in humanitarian endeavors.

Educational requirements vary, depending on the religion, and may require a master's of divinity degree.

What Employers Want

Contributions you make to your community reflect well on you as an individual. Employers are looking for students who are dedicated, hard working, and show a commitment to their interests.

By getting involved in on-campus societies (See-www.mountstudents.ca) and volunteering early, you will not only show credibility in your area of interest but also a willingness to work towards goals.

Associations

Why join now? Professional associations are a great way to network within your field of study. Not only do these organizations help get you connected, they also help keep you well-informed. Many also have discounted student membership rates.
