

Nancy Guberman

Nancy Guberman is retired professor of Social Work with the University of Quebec in Montreal and past Scientific Director of the University Affiliated Research Centre on Social Gerontology. A dynamic and engaging facilitator, Professor Guberman has led numerous workshops on caregiving with health care professionals across Canada and in the U.S. For Novartis France, she has produced an instructional video for health care professionals on assessing the needs of caregivers, with colleagues has developed the C.A.R.E. Tool (an assessment tool for caregivers), and has published extensively on the topic of caregiving. She is also active in caregiver advocacy groups in Quebec and Canada.