Amanda Perry

Amanda Perry is originally from Summerside, Prince Edward Island and now lives in Charlottetown to be closer to the School of Nursing at the University of Prince Edward Island. Amanda decided to enter the nursing field because of "the many opportunities it has to help people take better care of their own health." Following her graduation, and after getting two years of experience in nursing, Amanda plans to travel across Canada putting her nursing skills to use while seeing the country. Amanda joined the Timing of the C.A.R.E. Tool project to have the opportunity to get out into her community and hear participant's experience of caregiving.
