Our course

As you begin your second co-op work term, it will be important to think about how you can further develop your public relations skills. The course work for this term encourages you to seek opportunities to develop and apply your strategic thinking skills within the context of your co-op position and allows you to articulate those skills in online discussion with your peers and by developing a case study.

Your work term is more than just a job. Your co-op employer is an educational partner, giving you the opportunity to advance your academic and professional goals, adapt to change and build your confidence. The coursework for PBRL 2288 require you to reflect upon the application of communication theory in the workplace. During the semester, you will use Moodle to take part in discussions about public relations practice with your peers and/or your co-op faculty advisor. You will also submit an individual case study in which you will use theory and/or precedent to analyze a particular project, issue, product or activity that you were involved in or that you observed during your time in the workplace.

Course objectives

By the end of this course you will be able to:

- Identify specific aspects of the PR practitioner's function and responsibilities.
- Articulate learning objectives relevant to your job description and career interests.
- Reflect on and document your co-op work term experience.
- Communicate with other practitioners in a professional manner using an online platform.
- Receive and provide peer support as you and your fellow co-op students reflect on your experience.
- Remain connected with your co-op peers and the co-operative education program even though you are not on campus.
- Engage your co-op faculty advisor throughout the work term by sharing information, providing mutual feedback, and receiving professional and academic advice and support.
- Understand and apply the concepts you were taught in your public relations courses

Our learning

We will use our Moodle site to engage in online discussion and to submit assignments. There, you will find the most up-to-date schedule of content, course resources and supplementary readings, as well as reminders and announcements. Remember to visit the Moodle site regularly to stay updated on the course.

The University asks us to use our MSVU e-mail addresses for electronic communications. If I need to communicate with you by e-mail, I will use your Mount Outlook account. Please be sure to check your e-mail regularly. Please communicate with me using only your MSVU email.

Learning supports

If you need help with any of Mount Online learning technologies, please email helpdesk@msvu.ca or visit Online Learning. During regular business hours (AT), you may phone 902-457-6538. On evenings and weekends, phone 902-457-6788.

Learning activities

During your co-op term, you will participate in course work that is designed to connect your classroom learning with your professional on-the-job training.

- Discussions: During the work term, you will participate in three forum discussions in Moodle. You will share original posts of 400 to 500 words. For each forum, the faculty advisor will post content for you to consider and comment on in your post. You will also meet with the faculty advisor to ‘check in’ and to discuss your post. The faculty advisor will contact you by email at the beginning of the term to set up the days/times for these meetings.
- Case study: At the end of the work term, you will develop a unique case study. This assignment is an opportunity for you to reflect on and analyze a specific case of public relations practice that you have experienced or observed in the workplace during this second co-op term. The case study is a written report of 1,500-2,000 words that draws on your experience or your observation of a project, program or issue in your workplace. This assignment provides you with an opportunity to develop the report-writing skills necessary in today’s workplace. Academically, it is your opportunity to analyze and reflect on a specific case of public relations practice. You will analyze your case in the context of what you have learned in the classroom about public relations. See the course Moodle page for additional assignment details. We will also plan to discuss this assignment during one of our agreed-upon meetings. We can meet for additional sessions, if/as needed, while you complete this project.

Use of Generative Artificial Intelligence

The use of AI technology is restricted in this course. AI-driven tools may be used to assist your learning by helping to brainstorm or outline, but you may not use such tools to produce work to be assessed in this course. All assignments must be completed independently by the student. Using AI-driven tools to produce submitted work constitutes an academic offence. If the work you produce is suspected to misrepresent your own competencies, you may be asked to meet with the instructor to discuss your coursework and/or complete a supplemental assessment to evaluate your mastery of course outcomes. It is unacceptable to use AI tool to impersonate yourself in classroom contexts, such as by using an AI tool to compose a post or response to a discussion forum on Moodle or to complete any other written assignment. If you have questions about what constitutes acceptable use of AI tools, please consult with the instructor. Also, see the tip sheet produced by the MSVU Writing Centre on the course Moodle site.

University advisories

Missed deadlines or assignments

All assignments must be submitted and achieve a satisfactory standard to successfully complete PBRL 1188. We will adhere to the assignment deadlines unless there are extraordinary circumstances. If you believe you will be unable to meet a deadline, discuss it with the co-op faculty advisor in advance. It may be possible for us to make alternate arrangements if your difficulty is a valid one.

You may be asked to re-submit your work if it does not meet the stated objectives, but you could receive a passing grade on that piece of work with revisions. Revised work must be submitted within five days after the co-op faculty advisor notifies you of the opportunity to resubmit. You will have only one chance to re-write a work term assignment. Failure to revise the submission to a satisfactory level will result in a failing grade for the co-op term.

Writing policy and use of language

Correct use of language is one of the criteria included in the evaluation of all written assignments.

Basic writing competency is required to pass this course. The obligation to meet the minimal standard lies with the student. If a faculty member determines that a student's basic writing competency falls below the minimum standard for the course, the student will fail the course.

Academic integrity

You play a vital role in contributing to and maintaining the culture of academic integrity expected of everyone at MSVU. University regulations on plagiarism and cheating and other academic offences will be strictly enforced. These regulations, including applicable procedures and penalties, are detailed in the Academic Calendar under "Academic Offences." It is your responsibility to make yourself familiar with these regulations and consequences.

Research ethics

Students who conduct research involving human participants must have their research reviewed in accordance with the MSVU Policies and Procedures for Ethics Review of Research Involving Humans before starting the research. Check with your course professor or Chair of the Department about proper procedure.

Use of course material

Please observe the following:

- Course material to which you are granted access in this course is only to be used for this course.
- Material that you submit as part of the requirements of this course cannot be used to complete the requirements of another course, without the express permission of the instructor of the second course. This constitutes cheating as stated in the Academic Calendar.
- Students do not have permission to upload course material to any external websites or share with others, unless expressly permitted to do so by the instructor. If you require further clarification about using materials from this course in other contexts, please contact the instructor.
- Under no circumstances are students permitted to provide anyone not registered in this course with access to the Mount Online course site established for the course.

Students who have a disability and who require academic accommodations must register with Accessibility Services as early as possible in order to receive accommodations (<http://www.msvu.ca/accessibilityservices>).
